

While the importance of the ADP report can be argued, the decline of -123k jobs vs an expected rise of 75k jobs points to continued weakness in the labor market. Markets for the most part ignored this release and are instead focused on the results of Georgia's runoff election.

Still missing 9.84 million jobs

