

Investors are grappling with today's inflation data. Consumer prices increased 4.2% from last April. A large increase was expected due to the suppression of economic activity during the pandemic. Is this increase temporary or have we entered an era of higher inflation? Call KHWWM to discuss inflation and your portfolio.

Largest Increase Since 2009

